

A warm welcome to our first graduates!

Nearly 400 graduates who have graduated from PolyU's predecessors for 20 years or more were back on campus to join a reunion dinner held on 7 December. Among them were four senior alumni aged over 80 who graduated in 1939 as four of the first batch of graduates of the former Government Trade School.

Held at a gymnasium of the Shaw Sports Complex, the gathering was jointly organized by the University and the Federation of PolyU Alumni Associations. This is the first homecoming dinner party of such scale ever held on campus, bringing together graduates from the Government Trade School, the Hong Kong Technical College and the Hong Kong Polytechnic.

It's a big and warm gathering indeed!

The participants each gets a "Commemorate Medal" which acknowledges their accomplishments and reminds them of their link with PolyU.
