Code:	JRMP2024_09
School / Department:	Department of Applied Social Sciences
Name of Research Team Member(s):	Dr Karen Kwan Man-wa, Research Assistant Professor Ms Sylvia Shi Yun, Research Assistant
Research Topic:	Appraisals of gender nonconformity
Short Description of the Research Project:	Most children prefer toys and activities that are stereotypical to their gender. Gender nonconformity refers to deviation from the expected gender norms. This project will examine appraisals of gender nonconformity, which have implications for the psychological well-being of gender nonconforming individuals. The appraisals of different gender expressions will be measured using self-report questionnaires. The participating students will gain hands-on experience with the research process. They will be involved in questionnaire development, participant recruitment, data collection, data entry, dataset preparation, data analysis, the literature review, report writing and/or other research-related activities.
