WHERE DEDICATION NURTURES LIVES

Life. It’s what drives our work at the PolyU Faculty of Health and Social Sciences. Whether it’s helping people to get more life or simply to get more out of it, everything we do is in hopes of enhancing the health and well-being of everyone.

Dedication. It’s what drives our efforts to make a difference in people’s lives. Take diabetes. One in every ten adults in Hong Kong will develop it. We aim to help diabetics deal with their symptoms better. We screen their vision, research their pain and nerve damage, and ease their daily chore of testing their blood sugar levels. Drawing much applause and no blood, our gold-winning, soon-to-be-launched Non-Invasive Blood Glucose Meter replaces a finger prick with a painless light scan.
