Teaching/Learning Methodology

(Note 3)

Hong Kong version

The subject is delivered by lectures in which basic concepts and arguments related to subject syllabus will be covered. Films, documentary and television shows will be used in order to enhance discussion and critical thinking. In-class discussions may be arranged for individual lectures in which students are invited to make short presentations on selected topics. The aim is to foster an interactive learning environment.

Chinese Mainland version

The subject is delivered in Hong Kong and Chinese Mainland by lectures and in-class discussions in which basic concepts and arguments related to subject syllabus will be covered. Field learning is the essential method to enhance understanding, discussion and critical thinking. Field visits to migrant non-governmental organizations (NGOs), community organizations and/or green farms are required (specific visit(s) to be arranged).

Students are required to discuss and debate on the selected topics related to the subject after the field visits and learning. They are also required to do a group presentation and write an individual paper upon the completion of field learning in Chinese Mainland.

3. Attendance and Participation	20%	✓	✓	✓	✓
Total	100%

Explanation of the appropriateness of the assessment methods in assessing the intended learning outcomes:

1. In-class assessment activities (40%)

In-class assessment activities will be used to test students' understanding of the theories and concepts of globalization, and the developmental problems of Chinese societies. Depending on the actual class size, the selected assessment activities will be carried out in the following format:

Quiz: The quiz will assess students' competence in understanding and applying theories and concepts learned in lectures. It will consist of multiple choice questions and/or essay questions.

AND/OR

Group presentation: The small group project opens up space for student control of learning processes and collaborative approaches to knowledge. The group oral presentation is primarily based on a review of selected readings and reflections of a chosen topic. Each member of the same group will receive the same grade.

2. Term paper (40%)

The term paper will enable students to integrate major concepts, theories and paradigms learnt in the subject to indicate the level of knowledge and competence gained in the field of study. It is due at the end of the semester.

3. Attendance and participation (20%)

Attendance is required. The subject teacher will invite students to respond by sharing ideas of the key texts, personal experiences and social observations. Active participation through peer learning is encouraged. Follow-up questions from students are welcome for further clarifications and in-depth discussions.

Note 1: Intended Learning Outcomes

Intended learning outcomes should state what students should be able to do or attain upon completion of the subject. Subject outcomes are expected to contribute to the attainment of the overall programme outcomes.

Note 2: Subject Synopsis/ Indicative Syllabus

The syllabus should adequately address the intended learning outcomes. At the same time over-crowding of the syllabus should be avoided.

Note 3: Teaching/Learning Methodology

This section should include a brief description of the teaching and learning methods to be employed to facilitate learning, and a justification of how the methods are aligned with the intended learning outcomes of the subject.

Note 4: Assessment Method

This section should include the assessment method(s) to be used and its relative weighting, and indicate which of the subject intended learning outcomes that each method purports to assess. It should also provide a brief explanation of the appropriateness of the assessment methods in assessing the intended learning outcomes.
