Objectives	Over the past three decades, Gender Studies has become an important field of study in many countries across the world. The objectives of this subject are to provide students with the basic knowledge and concepts in gender studies as well as to relate gender with broader socio-political changes in Chinese societies. This subject comprises two parts. The first part will help students to gain a better understanding of the Chinese societies by looking at their gender aspects. It explores the unique characteristics and evolution of the gender system of Chinese societies, in particular, Hong Kong and the Mainland. The second part serves as an introduction to gender study by focusing on the changes of gender structures and related policies. The subject will increase students' gender awareness and sensitivity. Students will learn the meaning and importance of gender in different aspects of their personal and social lives, including family, education, employment, mass media, body politics, and globalization. It considers gendered relations of power and the articulation of gender with other kinds of social difference &amp; identities such as race, class and sexuality. We would also apply the concepts and theories to compare the gender experiences in different Chinese societies. A variety of theoretical perspectives, including historical perspective, sociological theories, conventional social science perspectives, cultural studies perspectives and various feminist perspectives will be applied to a number of substantive issues of contemporary concern.
Intended Learning Outcomes (Note 1)	Upon completion of the subject, students will be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>(a) analyze the gender aspects in the changing Chinese societies;</li> <li>(b) discern different levels of gender equality/inequality in various aspects of their lives;</li> <li>(c) analyze how gender affects relationships and improve their ability to communicate with the same and opposite sex; and</li> <li>(d) describe laws, public policy, institutions governing gender relations in both the public and private spheres.</li> </ul>
Subject Synopsis/ Indicative Syllabus (Note 2)	Part I: Gender relations in Chinese societies: Historical Overview <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Traditional Chinese society <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) Marriage &amp; patriarchal Chinese family</li> <li>b) Reforms and gender equality</li> </ul> </li> </ul>

	2. Hong Kong a) Gender and change in Hong Kong b) History of the women’s movement Part II: Theoretical Perspectives, Gender Structures, and Gender Discourses 1. Gender Perspectives: theoretical issues A) Understanding gender B) The journey to a gendered approach: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Feminist frameworks and Women’s Studies</li> <li>- Masculinity and Men’s Studies</li> </ul> 2. Gender, Work and Economy 7. Gender, Marriage, and Families 8. Gender and Political Participation
Teaching/Learning Methodology (Note 3)	Major concepts and theoretical perspectives will be given primarily through lectures. Interdisciplinary material is organized, presented, and guided by sociological, psychological, cultural, historical, and feminist perspectives. In lectures, audio-visual materials will be used as teaching aids and guest speakers will be invited. Students will be required to break up into small groups to present assigned topics and readings. They are also expected to apply the learned concepts and theories to selected cases during discussion. To enable students to meet the “ER” requirement, students will receive on-line support from the language centre to enhance their reading skills. They are also expected to study the prescribed readings on the Reading List session below. In order to meet the “EW” requirement, students are required to write a term essay (1,500 - 2,500 words) as a written assignment designed to assess their writing abilities.
Assessment Methods in Alignment with Intended Learning Outcomes (Note 4)	<table border="1" style="width: 100%; border-collapse: collapse;"> <thead> <tr> <th rowspan="2" style="width: 30%;">Specific assessment methods/tasks</th> <th rowspan="2" style="width: 10%;">% weighting</th> <th colspan="6">Intended subject learning outcomes to be assessed (Please tick as appropriate)</th> </tr> <tr> <th style="width: 5%;">a</th> <th style="width: 5%;">b</th> <th style="width: 5%;">c</th> <th style="width: 5%;">d</th> <th style="width: 5%;"></th> <th style="width: 5%;"></th> </tr> </thead> <tbody> <tr> <td>1.Attendance &amp; Class Participation</td> <td style="text-align: center;">20%</td> <td style="text-align: center;">✓</td> <td style="text-align: center;">✓</td> <td style="text-align: center;">✓</td> <td style="text-align: center;">✓</td> <td></td> <td></td> </tr> <tr> <td>2. Note 1: Intended Learning Outcomes

Intended learning outcomes should state what students should be able to do or attain upon completion of the subject. Subject outcomes are expected to contribute to the attainment of the overall programme outcomes.

Note 2: Subject Synopsis/ Indicative Syllabus

The syllabus should adequately address the intended learning outcomes. At the same time over-crowding of the syllabus should be avoided.

Note 3: Teaching/Learning Methodology

This section should include a brief description of the teaching and learning methods to be employed to facilitate learning, and a justification of how the methods are aligned with the intended learning outcomes of the subject.

Note 4: Assessment Method

This section should include the assessment method(s) to be used and its relative weighting, and indicate which of the subject intended learning outcomes that each method purports to assess. It should also provide a brief explanation of the appropriateness of the assessment methods in assessing the intended learning outcomes.
