Teaching/Learning Methodology  (Note 3)	There are several methods to be used in the lectures and tutorials in this course. First, students will be guided through cases in newspaper stories to examine the issues mentioned above. Second, audio – visual materials, which are abundantly available in the library, will be used to further illustrate the ideas. Third, occasionally and where available, guest speakers from different organizations, such as the Ministry of Foreign Affairs or representatives from different consulates in Hong Kong or those from NGOs etc, will be invited to give guest talks. And finally, where applicable, students will also be given chances to pay visits to these places so as to allow them to have a personal and deeper understanding of the roles of these places in the world.

	In order to fulfill the ER requirement, students would be facilitated the reading of the required text in class through some class workshops held at the end of the lectures. These are some simple exercises to let students reflect what they have learnt in class about the topics they have gone through in lectures. By doing so, students would have a deeper understanding about the topics as well as better reflections of how much they have learnt in lectures. To meet the EW requirement, student are required to submit an individual report with 1500-2500 words in English.

Note 1: Intended Learning Outcomes

Intended learning outcomes should state what students should be able to do or attain upon completion of the subject. Subject outcomes are expected to contribute to the attainment of the overall programme outcomes.

Note 2: Subject Synopsis/ Indicative Syllabus

The syllabus should adequately address the intended learning outcomes. At the same time over-crowding of the syllabus should be avoided.

Note 3: Teaching/Learning Methodology

This section should include a brief description of the teaching and learning methods to be employed to facilitate learning, and a justification of how the methods are aligned with the intended learning outcomes of the subject.

Note 4: Assessment Method

This section should include the assessment method(s) to be used and its relative weighting, and indicate which of the subject intended learning outcomes that each method purports to assess. It should also provide a brief explanation of the appropriateness of the assessment methods in assessing the intended learning outcomes.
