Dear Colleagues

In view of the severe situation in relation to the COVID-19 pandemic, the HKSAR Government announced today that except for those who provide emergency and essential public services, all civil servants should work from home as far as practicable. This special arrangement will take effect from tomorrow until next Friday.

To align with the Government's measures and to safeguard the health and safety of our staff, the Central Management Team has decided to implement the following special work arrangement with effect from tomorrow (4 February) until next Friday (11 February):

Except for those colleagues who are engaged in essential activities/operations and services, the Heads of Unit can decide to allow their staff to work from home as far as practicable. The University will monitor the evolving situation and keep you advised of any further update on the work arrangements.

Heads of Unit are also reminded that all non-essential activities shall be suspended until further notice.

Regards
