

Notice on Response Actions for the Novel Coronavirus (20): Special work arrangements for staff with home-mates undergoing self-quarantine

Task Force on Response Actions for the Novel Coronavirus

2020-03-20 10:16

Dear Staff and Students,

As the risk exposure to the novel coronavirus has been escalating for people coming/returning to Hong Kong from overseas, the Government has imposed quarantine requirements on these arrivals/returnees. In this connection, the Senior Management has decided that, with immediate effect, all staff (including research and temporary staff) with home-mates undergoing self-quarantine should report their situation to the Head of Department. Work from home arrangement is strongly advised for the staff concerned. If they have a compelling need to come to office to perform essential services or pick up materials for the home office, strict hygiene measures should be observed including avoidance of people contact.

The above principle will also apply to students and they should not come to the campus if their home-mates are undergoing self-quarantine.

Your support to the above precautionary measures to safeguard the health and safety of the PolyU community is appreciated.

Best regards,

Andy Tong

Chairperson, Task Force on Response Actions for the Novel Coronavirus