Subject Title	English as a Global Lingua Franca
Credit Value	3
Level	4
Pre-requisite / Co-requisite/ Exclusion	None
Objectives	This subject aims to develop students' knowledge and understanding of the key issues that flow from the globalisation of English. In particular, it requires students to grapple with the following questions: What is a global language and do we need one? Why has English rather than another major language such as French or Chinese become the global lingua franca? What are the consequences of the spread of English, both for English and other languages? How do we classify the users and uses of English worldwide? What counts as English? Who owns English? What does the future hold for English?
Intended Learning Outcomes	Upon completion of the subject, students will be able to: Category A: Professional/academic knowledge and skills <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. demonstrate an informed understanding of the range of factors that have contributed to the global spread of English since the early seventeenth century;</li> <li>b. critically evaluate influential models and classifications of the uses and users of English around the world;</li> <li>c. show a critical awareness of the various forces (political, economic, demographic, cultural, technological, etc.) that are currently influencing the learning and use of English worldwide;</li> <li>d. relate issues surrounding the globalisation of English to developments in Hong Kong and mainland China;</li> <li>e. speculate on the future of English in its local, national and global context.</li> </ol> Category B: Attributes for all-roundedness <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>f. develop and use effective strategies for working independently and collaboratively;</li> <li>g. demonstrate a global outlook;</li> <li>h. synthesise and evaluate information and ideas from multiple sources;</li> </ol>

	To ensure that students' final grade accurately reflects their effort and ability, their work will be assessed in different conditions, settings and media: in and out of class, individually and in groups, and in writing and orally. The first assignment, which is done in-class, is designed to assess students' understanding of the topics covered in the first half of the course and focuses particularly on the first four ILOs. The second assignment gives students the opportunity to explore a self-chosen topic relating to the globalisation of English This involves conducting an extensive literature search, synthesising and evaluating information and ideas from a range of reputable academic sources, and demonstrating their knowledge and understanding of the issues in a term paper. The third assignment, which is done in small groups, gives students the opportunity to examine change and continuity in the use of English in Hong Kong since the signing of the Joint Declaration and to speculate on the future of the language in the territory in the short and long terms. The project, whose main outcome is a seminar presentation, involves the collection and analysis of primary and secondary data.
