Intended Learning Outcomes	Upon completion of the subject, students will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> understand the major leadership theories; grasp the “state of the science” regarding leadership and entrepreneurship research; identify the gaps in the literature and develop ideas how to advance the leadership and entrepreneurship research; apply knowledge of leadership and entrepreneurship to deal with their real world experiences. understand the impact of technology and artificial intelligence on leadership
Subject Synopsis/ Indicative Syllabus	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> Introduction to leadership Leader traits, behaviors, and contingencies Charismatic leadership and transformational leadership Ethical leadership Power and leadership The dark side of leadership Emotions and leadership Relational leadership Cross-cultural and indigenous leadership Future of leadership research: Artificial intelligence, entrepreneurship, and interventions
Teaching/Learning Methodology	This subject has been designed to create an interactive learning environment in which participants will be encouraged to challenge ideas/theories and develop effective communication and presentation competencies. Selected journal articles for each topic of leadership will form the basis for in-depth discussions of concepts and empirical findings. Explanation of the appropriateness of the assessment methods in assessing the intended learning outcomes: the various methods are designed to ensure that all students taking this subject – Journal articles are assigned to course participants. They are required to critique these articles and write a review report. Students are assigned journal articles to read at home. They are then required to prepare written reviews on these articles. They also need to make presentations in class and exchange views regarding conceptual, methodological and managerial issues.

To develop students' abilities to integrate what leadership theories they have learned in class, and more importantly, provide solutions to current leadership management issues, they are required to work independently to develop a research proposal on a topic related to this course. In doing so, they need to make a presentation in class and prepare a written report to exchange their ideas on the research topic. As a result, examination is excluded in this subject as it cannot help test the critical thinking of the students in developing their research on the topic of leadership.

Feedback is given to students immediately following the presentations and all students are invited to join this discussion.
