Abstract

Recognized around the world as a foremost authority on glaucoma, Dr. George Spaeth is the Louis J. Esposito Research Professor at Wills Eye Institute in Philadelphia. Prof. Spaeth's research activities have centered on the characterization and natural history of the cardinal manifestations of glaucoma. He was founding member and the first President of the American Glaucoma Society. In his visit to the School of Optometry, it would be our greatest honor to learn from him about the latest insights in glaucoma care.
