

Life Hacks for Unused Items

Photo: BuzzFeed Nifty

Old Sock → Reusable Sweeper Pad

Slip your old sock over the base of the sweeper and it works great as a cleaning pad! You can wash the sock and reuse it for many times. Use a fuzzy sock to help you mop the floor easily.

<https://youtu.be/s2eOAnMY-G8?t=08>

Photo: BuzzFeed Nifty

Styrofoam Packing Peanuts → Planter Drainage Materials

Place styrofoam packing peanuts in the bottom of your plant pots can improve drainage. They will not add weight to the pot and act as a filler for deep pots.

<https://youtu.be/Wi8KhfYoVL8?t=5>

Photo: First for women

Wine Cork → Earphone Cork Holder

Poke a hole into the end of the cork and you can plug your earphone jack in. Cut out a slot on the other end to fit the cord. Wrap your earphone around it to keep your earphone tangle free.

<https://youtu.be/Tr7oGR5t-T4?t=223>

Photo: Upcycle That

Wine Cork → Cork Planter

Drill a hole into the cork without drilling through. Add soil into it and insert a small plant. Glue a magnet to its back and place it onto your fridge!

<https://bit.ly/2wCubmY>

Photo: Health, Safety and Environment Office (HSEO), PolyU

Hand Rub Bottles → Travel Toiletries

Clean the hand rub bottles completely when they are used up. Refill them with toiletries to save your troubles of bringing a full bottle!

More Life Hacks

38 ingenious hacks for unused household items

<https://bit.ly/2CC7SCL>

38 plastic bottle life hacks you should know

<https://youtu.be/Dsvs0JUVKk8>

Remember what HSEO tells you:
handwashing helps prevent the spread of diseases!

