

PolyU PhD Scholars International Collaborative Research Fellowship (ICRF)

What is ICRF?

PolyU PhD Scholars is a prestigious fellowship that offers a competitive grant to support outstanding PhD students to conduct international collaborative research at top-notch global universities for six months to one year. It aims to enable PhD students to travel abroad and collaborate closely with world-class scholars to tackle pressing problems and train themselves to become future leaders. Successful applicant will be designated as a PolyU PhD Scholar during their research visit.

Financial Support

- A fixed amount of HK$65,000 will be awarded to successful applicants.
- Successful applicants will continue to receive stipends and pay tuition fees as required by PolyU, if applicable.

Selection

All applications undergo a rigorous panel selection process and are assessed based on the following criteria:

- The international standing of the host university and the relevant subject area;
- The credentials of the collaborator;
- The academic and/or research achievements of the applicant; and
- The quality of the research plan.

Current PolyU PhD students with outstanding academic and/or research performance are encouraged to apply!
