Critical Skills for Industry 4.0

The fourth industrial revolution, or more commonly called "Industry 4.0", has arrived. It brings with it disruptive technology that automates and replaces traditional jobs, while at the same time creates new ones that require different skillsets. When better thinking machines and transformational technology are right around the corner to assist our work, what kind of new skills do we need in order to better adapt to the new labour market? Kannan Chettiar of Avvanz envisions ten skills that you should consider developing. >> Read more
