| Service Project | |
| What will students do to serve? | Students will form teams to plan, co-ordinate, teach and conduct small workshops for ex-mentally ill patients on fashion design and styling as well as garment making, and assist the service recipients to create and style an outfit. The creative works derived from this project will be showcased and disseminated in an exhibition within PolyU campus and/or a mini fashion show at a public venue or within the university. The project will approach fashion creativity as a form of caring tool and help service recipients build inner confidence in utilizing their personal creativity to create a fashion outfit and enhance their personal fashion image. |
