

The Most Outstanding PolyU Student

Reflecting on my incredible transformation at PolyU, I am deeply moved by the power of personal growth, meaningful connections, and the pursuit of inspiration. Every step of the journey has revealed the transformative power that lies within me.

Before stepping into the vibrant campus of PolyU, I was an introverted individual, confined by the boundaries of my comfort zone. However, the dynamic and nurturing environment of PolyU became the catalyst for my profound transformation. Engaging in different academic and extracurricular activities, such as serving as a PolyU Student Ambassador and the President of Wofoo Leaders' Network – PolyU Student Chapter, I gradually adopted a people-oriented mindset. It was through these experiences that I discovered the immeasurable joy of connecting with and inspiring others.

Among the experiences that have shaped me, my academic exchange at Tsinghua University symbolises a shining milestone of inspiration. Working with many local and international students, I witnessed the transcendent power of passion that unified us all. Immersing in a world of diverse cultures, ideas, and perspectives, I realised the true value of connections. These connections not only enriched my journey but also created an inspiring network that continues to guide and influence the paths of both myself and others.

Looking ahead, my passion for addressing pressing societal issues fuels my ambition to pursue a postgraduate degree. With a deep commitment to leveraging my education and research endeavours, I aim to tackle challenges such as the ageing population, construction safety, and sustainability through innovative research projects. Guided by the personal transformation and meaningful connections I have cultivated, I aspire to become a beacon of inspiration, encouraging others to embrace their passions and contribute to positive changes in society.

As I progress on my path, I will always remember the value of personal growth, foster connections with diverse perspectives, and strive to make a meaningful impact on society. Together, we can ignite a ripple effect of transformation, connection, and inspiration. Together, we can forge a future that shines brighter than ever before – a future where our collective efforts excel in creating a better world.
