Higher Diploma in Electrical Engineering 電機工程學高級文憑

Higher Diploma in Electrical Engineering is a two-year full-time programme which provides theoretical and practical training for a career as an incorporated engineer in electrical engineering.

Graduates with outstanding academic performances have the priority to reserve a place in our full-time or part-time Bachelor of Engineering (Honours) programme in Electrical Engineering offered by the Department of Electrical Engineering. Higher Diploma graduates find excellent employment opportunities in power utility companies, building automation companies, railway corporations, building services consultancies, electrical apparatus manufacturers and other large engineering organizations.
