Dear Sir / Madam,

Symposium on “Primary Health Care in Hong Kong: Vision and Challenges”

World Health Organization (WHO) advocates the development of primary health care (PHC) throughout the world as a means to achieve “health for all”. This year marks the 40th anniversary of the Declaration of Alma-Ata signed by world leaders as a commitment to health for all. WHO will reunite the world in a global conference to reinvigorate and reaffirm the commitment to PHC. The Government and health care professions of Hong Kong have also been putting in much effort in PHC to cope with the challenges in health care and welfare sectors brought about by our rapidly ageing society.

Considering the importance of PHC particularly for an ageing population, The Hong Kong Polytechnic University (PolyU) will be hosting an inter-disciplinary Symposium on “Primary Health Care in Hong Kong: Visions and Challenges” to explore feasible ways of enhancing PHC. Professor Sophia Chan, Secretary for Food and Health, HKSAR Government, and Professor Timothy W. Tong, President of PolyU will officiate the event. Scholars, government officials and representatives of different health care professions will also present pressing topics relating to the policies, implementation and future developments of PHC, as well as the increasingly important roles of health care professions. Jointly organised by the Faculty of Health and Social Sciences and General Education Centre of PolyU, the Symposium aims to promote inter-disciplinary collaboration for enhancing the development and impact of PHC.

For the details of the Symposium, please refer to the attached Programme Rundown
